CHAPTER 21

GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

Section 21.1 Introduction.

The following rules and regulations are adopted for the government of the fire department and for the direction and guidance of its firefighters. Personnel guidelines are a necessity in any organization if it is to effectively achieve the purposes for which it is established. This is particularly true in a fire agency where the reputation of the organization is fundamentally dependent upon the personal conduct and professional competence of its individual firefighters. Although this manual is especially directed to the firefighters of the fire department, it is expected that all civilian employees will adhere to, and be guided by, all rules, regulations and procedures consistent with the positions they hold an with their duties and functions in the department.

- a. The delivery of fire services to a community is a unique and complex undertaking. It requires firefighters who possess a high degree of stability, sound judgment, physical and moral courage, fidelity and personal integrity. It requires that firefighters conduct themselves at all times within the limitations of their fire authority. They cannot act outside of, above or beyond their lawful authority and any abuse of their powers violates the authority entrusted to them.
- b. It cannot be expected that the contents of this manual of rules and regulations will cover all situations or emergencies that may arise. By the very nature of fire service work, firefighters in the field must perform their duties independently and with a minimum of direct supervision. Their own intelligence, practical experience, prudent discretion and common sense will often be their only available guidelines in carrying out their responsibilities.
- c. All firefighters are expected to be thoroughly familiar with the contents of this document and all revisions and amendments thereto. To serve its intended purpose, this document will be periodically reviewed and updated to meet current needs and requirements. All firefighters and employees are invited and encouraged to forward suggestions for the improvement of department operations, practices and procedures, in writing through department channels for the attention of the Fire Chief.
- d. These rules and regulations shall become effective on date of issuance and shall remain in full force and effect until amended or rescinded.
- e. All previous rules, regulations, orders, directives, policies or procedures inconsistent herewith are hereby revoked. If any part of these rules and regulations are rendered inoperable or declared illegal by any court or governmental agency of competent jurisdiction, the balance of the entire manual will remain in full force and effect.

Responsibility for refusal to obey an unlawful order rests with the fire fighter or employee to whom such order was given. He or she shall be strictly required to justify such action.

order of its impropriety. If the order is not corrected, then the firefighter to whom the order was given may file a grievance.

e. Conflicting Orders - Should any order given by a superior officer conflict with any previous department order, the fire fighter to whom such order is given will call attention to the conflict. If the superior officer does not change his order to avoid such conflict, his order will be obeyed, but the firefighter obeying such order will not be held responsible for disobedience of the previous order.
